Joanie Wolter

Joanie Wolter lives in N. Scottsdale with her husband, Charlie, and their two cats. Her business name, “Cuvee”, is a wine term meaning “a blend”. Joanie’s work is a blend of many different things, although she now works with fiber clay most of the time. She creates whimsical sculptures that make people smile, and that’s her goal. Her art gives her a sense of serenity and wellbeing, and has gone from being her hobby to her passion. Joanie’s hope is that the love she puts into each piece she creates brings as much joy to those who view it as it does to her.
